Portfolio Description

This portfolio seeks to provide access to a portfolio of health care and related industry companies. Investments may include companies that are engaged in the development, production or distribution of pharmaceutical, generic, biotechnology and medical technology products or services. The Portfolio invests primarily in equity securities of both U.S. and non-U.S. companies (including American Depositary Receipts and issuers in emerging markets).

Investment Strategy/Process

The portfolio management team strives to identify companies and industries that appear to have the potential for above-average returns or are expected to show above-average growth over the long-term, as well as those that appear to be trading below their true worth. They seek to build a portfolio with at least 80% of its net assets invested in the health care industry under normal conditions. The team conducts both industry and company analysis and considers a wide variety of factors including the political, economic and regulatory environments, growth drivers, margin trends, and the marketability of a company's products and services, as well as its competitive position, financial strength and valuation. As of April 30, 2023, Blackrock no longer serves as subadviser to the Portfolio.

Risks: Health care companies are subject to numerous risks including legislative or regulatory changes and adverse market conditions. Securities markets generally tend to move in cycles with periods when security prices rise and periods when security prices decline. The value of the Portfolio is influenced by a number of factors, including the performance of the broader market and risks specific to the Portfolio's asset classes, market cap groups, and issuers. Foreign investments involve additional risks, such as currency fluctuations and political, economic and market instability, which may be magnified for investments in emerging markets. The Adviser's assessment of investments may prove incorrect, resulting in losses or poor performance. These and other risks are described in the prospectus.

Effective April 30, 2023, BlackRock Investment Management, LLC no longer serves as a subadviser to the Portfolio. See the Summary Prospectus for details.
