

Thrivent International Allocation Portfolio

Ticker QTIAPX
Inception April 30, 2008
Objective Thrivent International Allocation Portfolio seeks long-term capital growth.

Portfolio key points

Thrivent International Allocation Portfolio is designed to provide investors with an all-in-one solution for international investing outside of the US across the size and style spectrum.

Strategic and tactical allocations

Thrivent International Allocation Portfolio uses strategic and tactical targets set by Thrivent Asset Management (TAM's) Investment Strategy Committee, which meets regularly and sets the top-down strategy for all of TAM's multi-asset class products. After setting long-term strategic targets, the Portfolio shifts exposures tactically based on the regions and styles the management team believes can offer the best returns.

Quantitative active management

The Portfolio is managed primarily by Thrivent's Systematic Alpha team, which uses sophisticated quantitative methods to construct portfolios that seek to identify stocks with the potential to outperform over the long term. An actively-managed, quantitative approach relies heavily on data and factor-based models and less on fundamental research.

Investing across geographies and size spectrum

Designed as a stand-alone international investing solution, the Portfolio can invest in any country in the world and in companies of any size. The portfolio invests primarily in developed economies, but includes exposure to emerging markets as well.

International investing may help diversify your portfolio

Most investors in the U.S. have exposure to the U.S. stock market. But what about the rest of the world? Countries across the globe have different return profiles and may have low correlation to U.S. equities,¹ which can be a diversification benefit for a portfolio that already has significant U.S. exposure. While diversification can help reduce market risk, it does not eliminate it.

Risks: Foreign investments involve additional risks, such as currency fluctuations and political, economic and market instability, which may be magnified for investments in emerging markets. The Portfolio's value is influenced by a number of factors, including the performance of the broader market, the effectiveness of the Adviser's allocation strategy, and risks specific to the Portfolio's asset classes, market cap groups, investment styles, and issuers. The use of derivatives (such as futures) involves additional risks and transaction costs. The Adviser's assessment of investments may prove incorrect, resulting in losses or poor performance. The use of quantitative investing techniques also involves risks. These and other risks are described in the prospectus.

The Portfolio is only available to the public through a variable life or variable annuity product. Contact the applicable insurance company for more information and a contract prospectus that will include information on the additional charges and fees that apply to the specific contract.

Before investing, investors should consider carefully the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of a portfolio and the variable insurance product. This and other important information is contained in the portfolio and variable insurance product prospectuses, which may be obtained from a financial professional or by contacting the applicable insurance company. Read them carefully before investing.
