

Thrivent International Allocation Portfolio

Ticker: QTIAPX

Inception: April 30, 2008

Objective: Thrivent International Allocation Portfolio seeks long-term capital growth.

Subadviser: Goldman Sachs Asset Management

Portfolio key points

Thrivent International Allocation Portfolio is designed to provide investors with an all-in-one solution for international investing outside the U.S. across the size and style spectrum.

Strategic and tactical allocations

Thrivent International Allocation Portfolio uses strategic and tactical targets set by the Thrivent Asset Management (TAM) Investment Strategy Committee, which meets regularly and sets the top-down strategy for all of TAM's multi-asset class products. After setting long-term strategic targets, the Portfolio shifts exposures tactically based on the regions and styles the management team believes can offer the best returns.

Quantitative active management

The Portfolio is managed primarily by Thrivent's Systematic Alpha team, which uses sophisticated quantitative methods to construct portfolios that seek to identify stocks with the potential to outperform over the long term. An actively managed quantitative approach relies heavily on data and factor-based models and less on fundamental research.

Investing across geographies and size spectrum

Designed as a stand-alone international investing solution, the Portfolio can invest in any country in the world and in companies of any size. The Portfolio invests primarily in developed economies, but includes exposure to emerging markets as well.

Long-term target allocation*

*Allocations subject to change.

Management

Noah J. Monsen, CFA
Sr. Portfolio Manager
Industry since: 2008
Thrivent since: 2000
Portfolio since: 2016

Brian W. Bomgren, CQF
Sr. Portfolio Manager
Industry since: 2006
Thrivent since: 2006
Portfolio since: 2016

Goldman Sachs Asset Management Quantitative Investment Strategies Team

Portfolio since: 2013

Len Ioffe
GSAM since: 1994 | PM since: 1996
PM on strategy since: 2013

Osman Ali
GSAM since: 2003 | PM since: 2005
PM on strategy since: 2013

Takashi Suwabe
GSAM since: 2004 | PM since: 2004
PM on strategy since: 2013

Dennis Walsh
GSAM since: 2005 | PM since: 2015
PM on strategy since: 2021

International investing may help diversify your portfolio

Most investors in the U.S. have exposure to the U.S. stock market. But what about the rest of the world? Countries across the globe have different return profiles and may have low correlation to U.S. equities,¹ which can be a diversification benefit for a portfolio that already has significant U.S. exposure. While diversification can help reduce market risk, it does not eliminate it.

The countries featured in the third graphic are constituents in the MSCI All Country World Index (ex U.S.),² the Fund's benchmark. The index is made up of 23 developed and 27 emerging countries. Portfolio management will tactically shift exposures based on countries and regions the team believes can offer the best returns.

■ Developed markets³ ■ Emerging markets⁴ Source: Morningstar

Annual returns by country

Grouped by developed and emerging markets
Each box represents a country in the MSCI All Country World Index (ex U.S.)

This index performance is not indicative of the Portfolio's past or future performance. For Portfolio performance, visit thriventportfolios.com.

¹U.S. Stocks: represented by S&P 500 Index, which is a market-cap weighted index that represents the average performance of a group of 500 large-capitalization stocks.

²MSCI All Country World Index USD–Net Returns is an index that is designed to measure equity market performance in all global developed and emerging markets outside of the U.S.

³Developed Markets: Represented by MSCI World ex USA Index USD–Net Returns, which is a component of MSCI ACWI ex USA and includes 23 developed markets.

⁴Emerging Markets: Represented by MSCI Emerging Markets Index USD–Net Returns, which is a component of MSCI ACWI ex USA and includes 27 emerging markets.

Any indexes shown are unmanaged and do not reflect the typical costs of investing. Investors cannot invest directly in an index.

Risks: Foreign investments involve additional risks, such as currency fluctuations and political, economic and market instability, which may be magnified for investments in emerging markets. The Portfolio's value is influenced by a number of factors, including the performance of the broader market, the effectiveness of the Adviser's allocation strategy, and risks specific to the Portfolio's asset classes, market cap groups, investment styles, and issuers. Markets may also be impacted by domestic or global events, including public health threats, terrorism, natural disasters or similar events. The use of quantitative investing techniques and derivatives such as futures also involve risks. The Adviser's assessment of investments may prove incorrect, resulting in losses or poor performance. The investment style employed by the Subadviser may not be complementary to that of the Adviser. The Portfolio may engage in active and frequent trading of portfolio securities, which may result in higher transaction costs and higher taxes. These and other risks are described in the prospectus.

The Portfolio is only available to the public through a variable life or variable annuity product. Contact the applicable insurance company for more information and a contract prospectus that will include information on the additional charges and fees that apply to the specific contract.

Past performance is not indicative of future results.

Before investing, investors should consider carefully the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of a portfolio and the variable insurance product. This and other important information is contained in the portfolio and variable insurance product prospectuses, which may be obtained from a financial professional or by contacting the applicable insurance company. Read them carefully before investing.

The distributor for Thrivent Series Fund, Inc. is Thrivent Distributors, LLC, a registered broker-dealer and member FINRA/SIPC. Thrivent, an SEC-registered investment adviser, serves as the investment adviser. Thrivent Distributors, LLC, is a subsidiary of Thrivent, the marketing name for Thrivent Financial for Lutherans.

©2021 Thrivent