

Thrivent Large Cap Growth Portfolio

Ticker: QTLCGX

Inception: Jan. 9, 1987

Objective: Thrivent Large Cap Growth Portfolio seeks to achieve long-term capital appreciation.

Portfolio key points

Thrivent Large Cap Growth Portfolio seeks to invest in large businesses that have unique opportunities for above average growth.

Total addressable market

Total addressable market (TAM) is the total market demand for a product or service. We want to invest in companies that are participating in very large markets with unique growth opportunities. The larger the addressable market, the more potential for growth and market share capture with the right company.

Initiative-driven fundamental analysis

Analysts use a variety of robust quantitative and qualitative factors when analyzing a firm as well as researching past and present firm initiatives. These initiatives are looked at in trying to understand how the firm is going to gain market share in their respective addressable markets.

IDS framework

The majority of our investments will be with companies we consider Innovators, Disruptors or Shifters. Innovators are companies that are developing new products or services; Disruptors are changing the status quo in their markets; and Shifters are participating in environments that are experiencing secular changes.

Process

How do we search for growth?

We search for companies participating in very large addressable markets with key growth initiatives.

How do we define growth?

We categorize companies as Innovators, Disruptors or Shifters (IDS), as well as cyclical, to maintain portfolio diversification.

How do we value growth?

We use fundamental analysis with absolute and relative valuations as well as extensive discounted cash flow modeling.

Risks: Large companies may be unable to respond quickly to new competitive challenges and may not be able to attain a high growth rate. The Portfolio's value is influenced by a number of factors, including the performance of the broader market, and risks specific to the Portfolio's asset classes, investment styles, and issuers. Common stocks of companies that rely extensively on technology, science or communications in their product development or operations may be more volatile than the overall stock market and may or may not move in tandem with the overall stock market. Markets may also be impacted by domestic or global events, including public health threats, terrorism, natural disasters or similar events. The Adviser's assessment of investments may prove incorrect, resulting in losses or poor performance. Foreign investments involve additional risks, such as currency fluctuations and political, economic and market instability, which may be magnified for investments in emerging markets. These and other risks are described in the prospectus.

Any indexes shown are unmanaged and do not reflect the typical costs of investing. Investors cannot invest directly in an index.

S&P 500® Growth Index measures the performance of the growth stocks in the S&P 500 Index. The S&P 500® Index is a market-cap weighted index that represents the average performance of a group of 500 large-capitalization stocks. S&P 500® Value Index measures the performance of the value stocks in the S&P 500 Index.

The Portfolio is only available to the public through a variable life or variable annuity product. Contact the applicable insurance company for more information and a contract prospectus which will include information on the additional charges and fees that apply to the specific contract.

Before investing, investors should consider carefully the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of a portfolio and the variable insurance product. This and other important information is contained in the portfolio and variable insurance product prospectuses, which may be obtained from a financial professional or by contacting the applicable insurance company. Read them carefully before investing.
