Risks: The value of each Income Plus Fund is influenced by factors impacting the overall market, certain asset classes, certain investment styles, and specific issuers. The Funds may incur losses due to investments that do not perform as anticipated by the investment adviser. Bond prices may decline during periods of rising interest rates. Credit risk is the risk that an issuer of a debt security may not pay its debt, and high yield securities are subject to increased credit risk as well as liquidity risk. Leveraged loans, REITS, preferred securities, convertible securities, sovereign debt, and mortgage-related and other asset-backed securities are subject to additional risks. Foreign investments involve additional risks, including currency fluctuations, liquidity, political, economic and market instability, and different legal and accounting standards; these risks are magnified for investments in emerging markets. An ETF is subject to additional fees and expenses, tracking error and the risks of the underlying investments that it holds. The use of derivatives (such as futures and swaps) involves additional risks and transaction costs, which could leave the Funds in a worse position than if they had not used these instruments. The Funds may engage in active and frequent trading of portfolio securities in implementing their principal investment strategies, which may result in higher transaction costs and higher taxes. The Opportunity Income Plus Fund primarily invests in a broad range of debt securities. The Diversified Income Plus Fund has target allocations of 70% in debt securities and 30% in equity securities. The Balanced Income Plus Fund has target allocations of 50% in equity securities and 50% in debt securities.
